What are the key risks associated with the Fund?

General Risks Associated with Investing in a Unit Trust Fund

Market Risk	Market risk refers to the possibility that an investment will lose value because of a general decline in financial markets, due to economic, political and/or other factors resulting in a decline in a fund's net asset value.
Inflation Risk	This is the risk that investors' investment in a fund may not grow or generate income at a rate that keeps pace with inflation.
Manager's Risk	This risk refers to the day-to-day management of the fund by the manager which will impact the performance of the fund.
Non-Compliance Risk	This is the risk of the manager, the investment manager or the trustee not complying with their respective internal policies, the deed and its supplemental deeds, securities law or guidelines issued by the regulators relevant to each party, which may adversely affect the performance of the fund.
Country Risk	Investments of a fund in any countries may be affected by changes in the economic and political climate, restriction on currency repatriation or other developments in the law or regulations of the countries in which the fund invests in.
Loan/Financing Risk	This risk occurs when investors take a loan/financing to finance their investment. The inherent risk of investing with borrowed/financed money includes investors being unable to service the loan/financing payments.
Suspension Risk	Where the Manager suspends dealings of units in a fund (no redemption or subscription are allowed) under exceptional circumstances as set out in the Prospectus - Temporary suspension of determination of NAV and of the issue, switching and redemption of units. Suspension of a fund may potentially result in unit holders not being able to redeem their units into cash based on their liquidity needs and continue to be subject to the risk factors inherent in the Fund.

Specific Risks associated with the Fund

Rate of Return Risk	Rate of return risk refers to the impact following changes in the rate of returns of Islamic money market instruments and Islamic deposits. When a rate of return declines, the value of Islamic money market instruments may increase while future expected return from Islamic deposits may decrease, and vice versa.
Income Distribution Risk	The distribution of income is not guaranteed.
Liquidity Risk	Liquidity risk refers to the ease of liquidating an asset depending on the asset's volume traded in the market. Credit and Default Risk	Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness and the expected ability to make timely payment of interest and/or principal by the issuers of the money market instruments, as well as the financial institutions where the Fund placed Islamic deposits. Default risk relates to the risk that an issuer of a money market instrument or a financial institution where the Fund placed Islamic deposits either defaulting on payments or failing to make payments in a timely manner which will in turn adversely affect the value of the money market instruments and/or the Islamic deposits.
Counterparty Credit Risk	Counterparty credit risk is the risk arising from the possibility that the counterparty may default or not able to fulfill a trade settlement prior or on the settlement date of the trade. This could adversely affect the value of the Fund.
Shariah Non-Compliance Risk	This is the risk of the Fund not conforming to Shariah investment guidelines. Non-compliance may adversely affect the NAV of the Fund when the rectification of non-compliance results in losses.

Note: The abovementioned risks which investors should consider before investing into the Fund should not be considered to be an exhaustive list. Investors should be aware that investments in the Fund may be exposed to other unforeseeable risks from time to time. Investors are advised to consult their professional adviser.
