The returns presented are net of all relevant fees, charges, and costs associated with the private retirement schemes investment. These may include, but are not limited to, management fees, trustee fees, and other applicable charges. Over time, such fees and charges can materially reduce the overall returns on your investment.

It is important to note that the sales charge is deducted upfront and directly reduces the amount of the initial investment that is allocated to the fund, which in turn can have the effect of lowering returns to investors in the long run. These costs may be deducted from your investment amount, from the returns generated, or directly from the Fund's assets, and are reflected in the unit price (NAV per unit). This includes expenses related to the marketing and distribution of the Fund. Additionally, all fees and charges payable to the Manager and the Trustee are subject to applicable taxes and/or duties, which may vary from time to time as imposed by the government.

Given the impact these costs can have on your investment returns, investors are strongly advised to read and understand the contents of the Fund's disclosure documents and consider the cumulative impact of these costs before making any investment decision.

Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future performance and that unit prices and investment returns may go down, as well up.

PRS Provider's Commentary (as at 30 November 2025)

As we approach year-end, activity in the Malaysian bond market has slowed, and supply pressures have largely eased with earlier issuances absorbed. Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) is expected to maintain the Overnight Policy Rate (OPR), providing stability and preventing aggressive yield compression. While the U.S. Federal Reserve has begun cutting rates and global markets are pricing in further easing, Malaysian yields are likely to remain modestly lower or range-bound rather than experience a sharp decline.

Key factors supporting this outlook include:

- Stable monetary policy: BNM's decision to hold OPR limits the downside for domestic yields.
- Reduced supply risk: Government bond issuance concerns have subsided.
- Global uncertainties: Geopolitical risks and potential supply shocks could still inject volatility.

Domestic institutional demand remains a strong anchor for the bond market, while foreign interest should persist given Malaysia's attractive yield differential and currency strength. Malaysia Ringgit, currently at a one year high, is supported by expectations of steady domestic monetary policy rates amid U.S. rate cuts.
