

Fund Overview

Investment Objective

US-Canada Income and Growth (the "Fund") seeks to provide regular income* and to a lesser extent long term capital appreciation by investing in the Target Fund, which will be investing in equities securities, debt securities and convertible securities.

The Fund is suitable for sophisticated investors seeking:

- regular income* and to a lesser extent long term capital appreciation on their investments; and
- an investment portfolio of equities securities, debt securities and convertible securities via the Target Fund.

Note: *Income distribution (if any) is paid out on quarterly basis.

Long term means the investment horizon should at least be five (5) years.

Any material change to the investment objective of the Fund would require Unit Holders' approval.

This material is not intended for non-sophisticated investors.

The returns presented are net of all relevant fees, charges, and costs associated with the wholesale investment. These may include, but are not limited to, management fees, trustee fees, and other applicable charges. Over time, such fees and charges can materially reduce the overall returns on your investment.

It is important to note that the sales charge is deducted upfront and directly reduces the amount of the initial investment that is allocated to the fund, which in turn can have the effect of lowering returns to investors in the long run. These costs may be deducted from your investment amount, from the returns generated, or directly from the Fund's assets, and are reflected in the unit price (NAV per unit). This includes expenses related to the marketing and distribution of the Fund. Additionally, all fees and charges payable to the Manager and the Trustee are subject to applicable taxes and/or duties, which may vary from time to time as imposed by the government.

Given the impact these costs can have on your investment returns, investors are strongly advised to read and understand the contents of the Fund's information memorandum and consider the cumulative impact of these costs before making any investment decision.

Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future performance and that unit prices and investment returns may go down, as well up.

Target Fund Manager's Commentary (as at 30 November 2025)

The macro outlook is improving following a stronger-than-expected economic rebound, an inflection in earnings estimates, a shift in the US Federal Reserve's (Fed's) stance, the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA) being signed into law, and increased visibility around trade policy.

US economic growth for Q3 is tracking ahead of forecasts due to resilient consumption and strong corporate spending. Unemployment and inflation have increased but only modestly. Potential growth tailwinds include rising capital expenditure (capex), reshoring, deregulation, and credit expansion whereas a sharp rise in either unemployment or inflation could increase the odds of an economic slowdown.

The Fed is targeting a more neutral policy position with the market expecting additional interest rate cuts over the coming quarters. However, Chair Powell has noted that future rate decisions remain highly data dependent.

US equity market strength is the result of better-than-expected top- and bottom-line results and inflecting earnings estimates. Potential earnings growth tailwinds include reaccelerating economic momentum in 2026, rising productivity, the proliferation of AI, low oil prices, and falling borrowing costs. Headwinds include rising operating expenses as well as the impact of tariffs, but clarity has improved on this point. There is evidence earnings breadth is beginning to expand. This dynamic could lead to a broadening out of the market, aided by industries that have underperformed since 2022. The Fed's shift in stance is also notable because equities are generally higher a year after the first rate cut.

US convertible securities have an attractive asymmetric return profile, providing upside participation potential when stock prices rise and downside mitigation when stock prices fall. The asset class's year-to-date outperformance of the broad equity market can continue if volatility rises or breadth expands. Strategist forecasts for annual new issuance continue to be revised higher, currently sitting at USD 95-100 billion# compared to an initial forecast of USD 60-65 billion. Heavy primary market activity is a function of coupon savings demand, elevated refinancing needs, and a positive outlook for price appreciation among small- and mid-cap companies. Aside from diversification benefits, new issuance expands the opportunity set of investments with attractive terms and the desired risk/reward characteristics.

The US high yield market, yielding more than 7%, offers equity-like returns but with less volatility. Currently, the asset class is on track to deliver a coupon-plus return in 2025. The market's attractive total return potential is a function of its discount to face value and higher coupon, which also serves to cushion downside volatility. Credit fundamentals are stable, near-term refinancing obligations remain low, and management teams continue to exercise balance sheet discipline. Additionally, the market's credit quality composition continues to improve. In this environment, new issuance is expected to remain steady, spreads can stay tight, and the default rate should continue to reside below the historical average. A covered call options strategy can be utilised to generate premium income. In periods of elevated or rising equity volatility, premiums collected may translate into more attractive annualised yields.

Collectively, these three asset classes can provide a steady source of income and a compelling "participate and protect" return profile.

The Fund is a client solution designed to provide high monthly income, the potential for capital appreciation, and less volatility than an equity-only fund.
